WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

The summit is designed for a diverse audience consisting of individuals who play a role in determining how large private forests are owned and managed in North America and around the world. Among others, this includes:

SENIOR EXECUTIVES FROM THE FOREST AND PAPER INDUSTRY

FOREST INVESTMENT MANAGERS

INSTITUTIONAL INVESTORS

FOREST AND PAPER INDUSTRY ANALYSTS

INVESTMENT BANKERS

PRIVATE EQUITY AND DEBT CAPITAL INVESTORS

CONSERVATION COMMUNITY REPRESENTATIVES

GOVERNMENTAL FOREST RESOURCE MANAGERS

LOCATION

"Who Will Own the Forest?" will be held at the World Forestry Center campus in Miller and Cheatham Halls. The World Forestry Center is a non-profit educational institution located in Portland, Oregon. We operate an international institute, conference facilities, World Forestry Center Museum, and gift shop in Washington Park. We are located adjacent to the Oregon Zoo and 175-acre Hoyt Arboretum.

We recommend lodging in the city center, which is minutes away from the World Forestry Center. By car, take Highway 26 West to the Zoo/World Forestry Center exit. Parking is free. Both the city center and World Forestry Center campus are also easily accessible via the MAX urban light rail. From the Portland airport, the Max Red Line leaves every 15 minutes to the city center. From the city center, board the MAX Blue Line headed west (to Hillsboro). Exit at the Washington Park station and you will be directly in front of the World Forestry Center.
